sirs;

as to the elminations of the morse code testing, there are many petitions to be reviewed as well as comment from the ham community, your jobs is hard enough as it stands, one less element would be one less response for the fcc to handle. morse code is a mode of commications just as rtty, amtor, packet even using the satellites to talk to others accross the the state or country, there is no test for satellite communication, so why test for code? good luck on your decission i hope it would be swift and take affect as swift.